

Dear NATPA members:

Finally, March is upon us and winter is on its tail end! We are delighted to announce that 2019 NATPA Conference Website is ready, which means that registration for conference and reservation for hotel have officially started.

While we still have further details that continues to come in, and we will constantly update the site, you should be able to find most of the critical information to plan your trip. Please share the site and conference info with your friends who might be interested in joining us at the meeting.

We look forward to seeing you all at the conference in August in TX!

Sincerely yours,
2019 Conference Planning Committee
