

Dear TAA-NJ members and friends,

On behalf of the Board of Directors of Taiwanese American Association of Pharmaceutical Sciences (TAAP) we sincerely invite you to join the 1-day TAAP symposium. The 2019 TAAP Symposium will be held on December 7, 2019 at Rutgers University, School of Pharmacy; the theme of the 2019 TAAP Symposium is "Breakthrough Medicine: Innovation and Challenge".

In this year's TAAP symposium we will discuss issues related to new areas of breakthrough medicines and critical topics in the development of innovative treatment options. We will have speakers from academia and industry in the US to share their experiences and knowledge in those topics. We also dedicated a session for emerging Taiwanese leaders in biotechnology research to show case their work. Additionally, we will provide a net-working and a resume review session for those who plan to look for jobs in the near future.

You can find the brief description of the Symposium in the TAAP website (taap-us.org) or TAAP Face Book page (<https://www.facebook.com/taapusorg/>). You can also find the tentative program, speakers and registration and other information in the following link (<https://www.eventbrite.com/e/2019-taap-symposium-tickets-78881319149>). We are very much looking forward to seeing you at 2019 TAAP symposium.

Sincerely yours,

Max Li, Ph.D., TAAP Vice President and 2019 Symposium Coordinator
Mark Long-Rong Kao, Ph.D. TAAP President
