Preface For Outstanding Taiwanese American

Starting in 1950, Taiwanese for a variety of different reasons traveled across the sea to start a new life in America. In the beginning, the majority of Taiwanese immigrants were college graduates. Because job opportunities in Taiwan were lacking, and because they wanted to pursue an advanced education at a time when Taiwan did not have many graduate schools, these students chose to go abroad. At the time, a lot of American science and engineering graduate programs were offering scholarships to international students, and as a result, many students applied to come to the United States in order to advance their academic careers. Back then, there was a shortage of medical personnel in America, and thus foreign doctors, nurses, and other medical professionals were being recruited. At the same time, Taiwan's political and economic environment was looking rather bleak. These conditions encouraged many native Taiwanese medical professionals to leave for the United States. These students and medical professionals slowly began to put down roots, starting new lives and careers in this new country. Soon becoming American citizens, these two groups became the foundation of the current Taiwanese American community.

In 1980, there was decreased political support for Taiwan within the international community, but the Taiwanese economy was beginning to take off. Because of this, many Taiwanese had the means to come to the States as family-based immigrants or business investors. These people constituted the third wave of Taiwanese immigrants to the United States.

70 years after the very first immigrants arrived in the States, there are now over one million Taiwanese Americans residing in the United States, many of them fourth- or fifth-generation, constituting an extraordinarily unique and outstanding minority population. The history of Taiwanese Americans is an important part of America's immigration history, but unfortunately, Taiwanese Americans have yet to properly organize and preserve our own history. Recording our history is a pressing issue, one that must be done in order for Taiwanese Americans to continue to develop and grow. Especially important is the preservation of stories from the first generation of immigrants, before these memories slowly wither away. It is our hope that Taiwanese Americans will unite with the common goal of preserving our people's legacy.

In 2013, a small group of Taiwanese Americans decided to work together to preserve the past 70 years of Taiwanese American history. They established the Taiwanese American Archives and created a website to collect and display articles and artifacts pertaining to our history. Our website currently hosts a variety of different ongoing archive projects; such as "My Stories" - a collection of individual stories, "Our Journeys" - the histories of Taiwanese American organizations, and "Publications" - a collection of books, magazines, and other cultural publications by Taiwanese American individuals and organizations. After 5 years of hard work and the help of many passionate Taiwanese Americans, we have accumulated over ten-thousand archive entries that are catalogued both online on our website, and at our Archives Center in Irvine, California.

Because information on the Archives website is organized in the same order it was collected, we believe that in order to create a more effective and useful product, it would be beneficial to organize our existing information into different volumes. We hope that we can complete this project on a large scale, producing a systematic and well-organized series of encyclopedic books to present the history of Taiwanese Americans to the world.

An individual is considered an “Outstanding Taiwanese American” if they have had an extraordinary impact or contribution to the Taiwanese American community, mainstream American society, and/or within their individual field. We choose candidates that we have learned about through various publications, books, magazines, or newspaper articles. Additionally, nominations by friends, families, or individuals themselves are taken into consideration as well. Afterwards, candidates are voted upon by a 15-member cross-country selection committee. Candidates who receive 9 or more votes are selected for the title of “Outstanding Taiwanese American.” While we do not grant a physical award or ceremony to the selected individuals, the title is our way of honoring people who have made great contributions to the community.

This current selection of “Outstanding Taiwanese Americans” comes from a range of 70 years, from 1949 until 2019. Of this selection, 230 are first generation Taiwanese Americans, and 69 are of the younger generation (mostly second-generation). Of the first generation, most of the selected individuals made contributions to the Taiwanese American community. Conversely, many of the selected individuals from the younger generation have been chosen for their break-throughs either within specialized fields, or for their entrance onto the American political stage.

These individuals have come from many different states across the country; while a few members of the older generation have returned to Taiwan, all of the younger generation remain in the states. Each “Outstanding Taiwanese American” has a minimum one-page introduction, including a photograph and up to 7 examples of their incredible achievements. If available, biographies and personal stories were also included in the book, in the hopes of allowing readers to understand these individuals on a deeper level. Additionally, oil paintings of important events in Taiwanese American history and portraits of outstanding artists have been included in the book as well.

Our original goal was to collect 300 individuals’ stories, and after a year of hard work, we have finally accomplished this goal. Moving forward, we will likely need to wait for a period of time before restarting this ongoing process of collecting new and emerging stories, sharing with the world the lives of Taiwanese Americans who are making a difference.

Finally, we would like to express our gratitude towards the 15 members of the “Outstanding Taiwanese Americans” selection committee and the various other Taiwanese American individuals who worked on this project. This book would not exist without the love and effort from all of its supporters.

Dean Chang (張怡仁) Presenting the West Point Yearbook to President Reagan

By Lekki Chua (蔡烈輝),

Oil on canvas, 20”(w) x 16”(h)

Dean Chang, Editor-in-Chief of the West Point Howitzer Yearbook, presented the West Point yearbook to President Reagan in February 1984. It was the first time in 30 years (since 1954) that a U. S. President personally accepted the annual West Point yearbook.

Taiwanese American Community Scholarship (台美社區獎學金)

By Chao-Min Liu (劉兆民),

Oil on canvas 48”(w) x 36”(h)

This is one of the outreach projects started by Taiwanese-Americans. Starting from 2002, scholarship awards have been given to outstanding local high school senior students by Taiwanese-American Communities throughout the United States. More than one thousand awards have been given. This is a way for Taiwanese-Americans to say “thank you” to Americans for all the help we have received.

A Tribute to Jeremy Lin

By Susan Hsiu-fang Liu (陳秀芳),
Oil on canvas 24”(w) x 36”(h)

This painting depicts Jeremy Lin, a second generation American; the first Taiwanese American NBA player. From holding a basket ball as a baby, with full family support, strong Christian faith, and a Harvard education, he created “Linsanity” and became one of Time magazine cover stories.

Prof. Ming Min Peng (彭明敏教授)

By Susan Hsiu-fang Liu (陳秀芳),
Oil on canvas, 20"(w) x 16"(h)

Professor Ming Min Peng published "Declaration of Formosan Self-Salvation" on 09/20/1964, and was put to jail for 13 months. After that, he was under close surveillance and his life was threatened. On 01/02/1970, with the help from American missionaries Mr. & Mrs. Thomberry and other Americans and Japanese friends, he dressed up as a Japanese musician with an injured left hand and escaped successfully. Peng lost his left arm in Japan due to US military aircraft bombing during World War II. He replaced the left prosthetic arm with an injured hand. Peng is the pioneer of the Taiwanese Self-Determination Movement.
