Remembering Bob Cheng

Someone said Bob's death is like a big Redwood tree falling down because of his impact in the community. However, this tree only grew so large because of the love and support it received from family and fellow Taiwanese American friends. Even though the big tree has fallen down and returned to the earth, Bob's everlasting spirit and legacy will fertilize and nourish other trees to grow taller and stronger.

Outstanding Taiwanese American Project

We have collected about 300 Outstanding T. A. on our website <http://taiwaneseamericanhistory.org/ota/>.

Please help recommend T. A. to be included. Please include English and Hanji names along with a list of achievements, professional fields and community services, and services to T. A. organizations. (In English, and Hanji when needed.) All recommendations will go through a committee before posting on the website.

Who's Who Project

There are about 2,290 bios collected on our website: <http://taiwaneseamericanhistory.org/whoswho/>. If you are a Taiwanese American and your name is not found on this list, please contact us. Most of us were raised to be humble and to not "show off," but "Who's Who" is just a place for Taiwanese Americans to introduce and identify ourselves, and to be part of a community.

Updating Website

We are in the process of updating our website with a new look. Please let us know if you have any suggestions or run into any problems.

Thank you for your support!

Attention Authors:

We are continuously translating articles from Hanji into English. If any of your articles are part of our online collection, we are very grateful for your contributions. Please review your articles on our website, and let us know if:

1. Any updates are needed
2. You would like to add or replace photos; up to 3 photos per article
3. You plan to translate articles into English.

Collection Update

17 new posts were collected in the month of October. There are a total of 9,383 posts on the website.
